

Not Just Convenience
But Preservation!

Video Transfer has always offered great convenience in being able to view your old home movies, slides, and photos. The problem of how to best preserve completely irreplaceable family memories has long been a concern to many. Transferring your memories to video tape does capture your memories and make it possible to share them, but even video tape can deteriorate in as little as 5 to 10 years. Now the ultimate solution to keeping your memories safe and looking good practically forever is here! Now high quality DVD, a digital video format disk, is available and it can play in virtually all DVD players being sold today. Also Hi Definition video is now available on a new format called AVCHD. This format is recorded on a standard DVD disk and is playable in most Blu Ray players. Ask Custom Video for details on the solution to protecting your family's memories to last forever!
